

A level Mathematics

Preparation work

To ensure you are fully prepared for A level mathematics in September you need to ensure you are confident and fluent in some of the topics studied at GCSE.

Here is a link to some on-line resources.

Transition to A level Mathematics resources: Essential Skills | AMSP

There are six sections each with three topics. You should complete at least one topic from each section as a minimum. In addition there are some worksheets to complete, which we suggest you attempt after you have studied the on-line units. These skills will be assessed in the first few weeks of the A level course.